DRAMATIC VIEWS

Innovation for a lifetime

PGT® has led the impact industry for more than 30 years, and with more than 8 million units installed, we're America's authority on laminated glass.

LAMINATED INSULATING GLASS

LAMINATED GLASS

Two panes of glass bonded together with a clear interlayer to form an incredibly strong glass "sandwich" that functions as a single pane, with additional noise-dampening and security benefits.

THE INTERLAYER

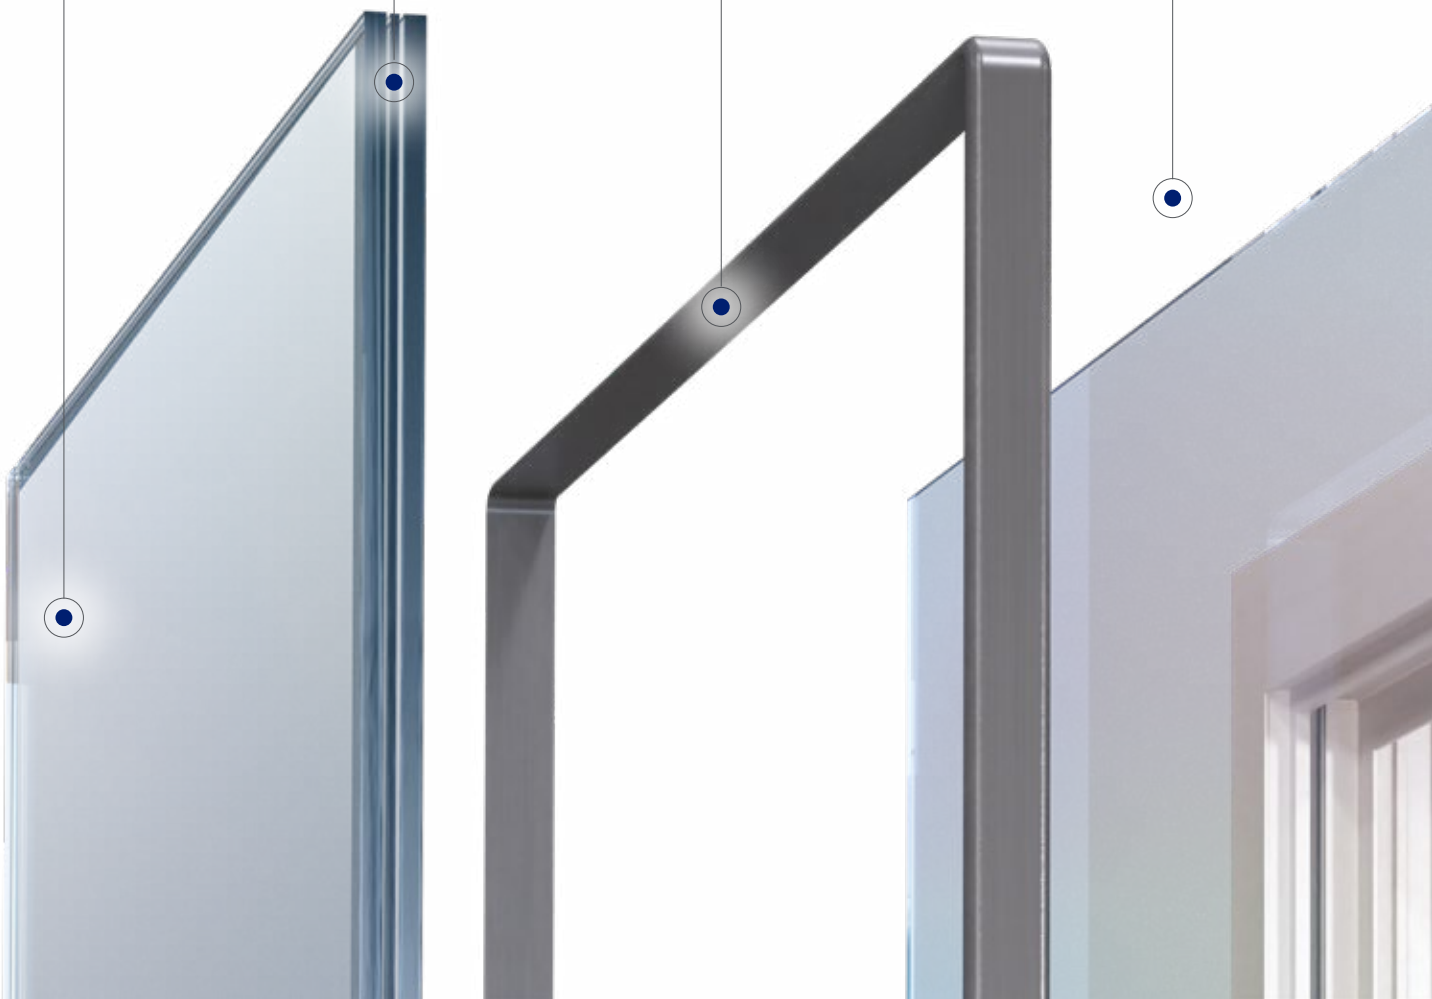

The interlayer is a transparent, shatter-resistant plastic membrane that is remarkably tough and flexible, holding the panes of glass firmly in place even if cracked from the outside. The interlayer also protects furniture and decor against fading and sun damage.

THERMOPLASTIC SPACER (TPS)

Our unique TPS spacer and sealant system is air-tight, maintaining the thermal insulation and preventing condensation and seal failures.

INSULATING AIR SPACE*

The layer between the outside pane and inner laminated glass pane acts as a barrier that slows heat transfer and dissi-pates sound. Argon gas can be inserted for even greater energy efficiency.

UV PERFORMANCE COATING

A molecular bonded coating on the glass surface that reduces heat buildup in your home, saving cooling cost.

OUTSIDE PANE*
Single pane of glass that increases a window's insulating properties while maintaining clear sightlines.

Renowned Performance

Over 8 million products manufactured and shipped, a testament to the quality and performance trusted by homeowners and builders alike.

Sound Reduction

Minimize noises in and around your home. Product options are subjected to STC testing.

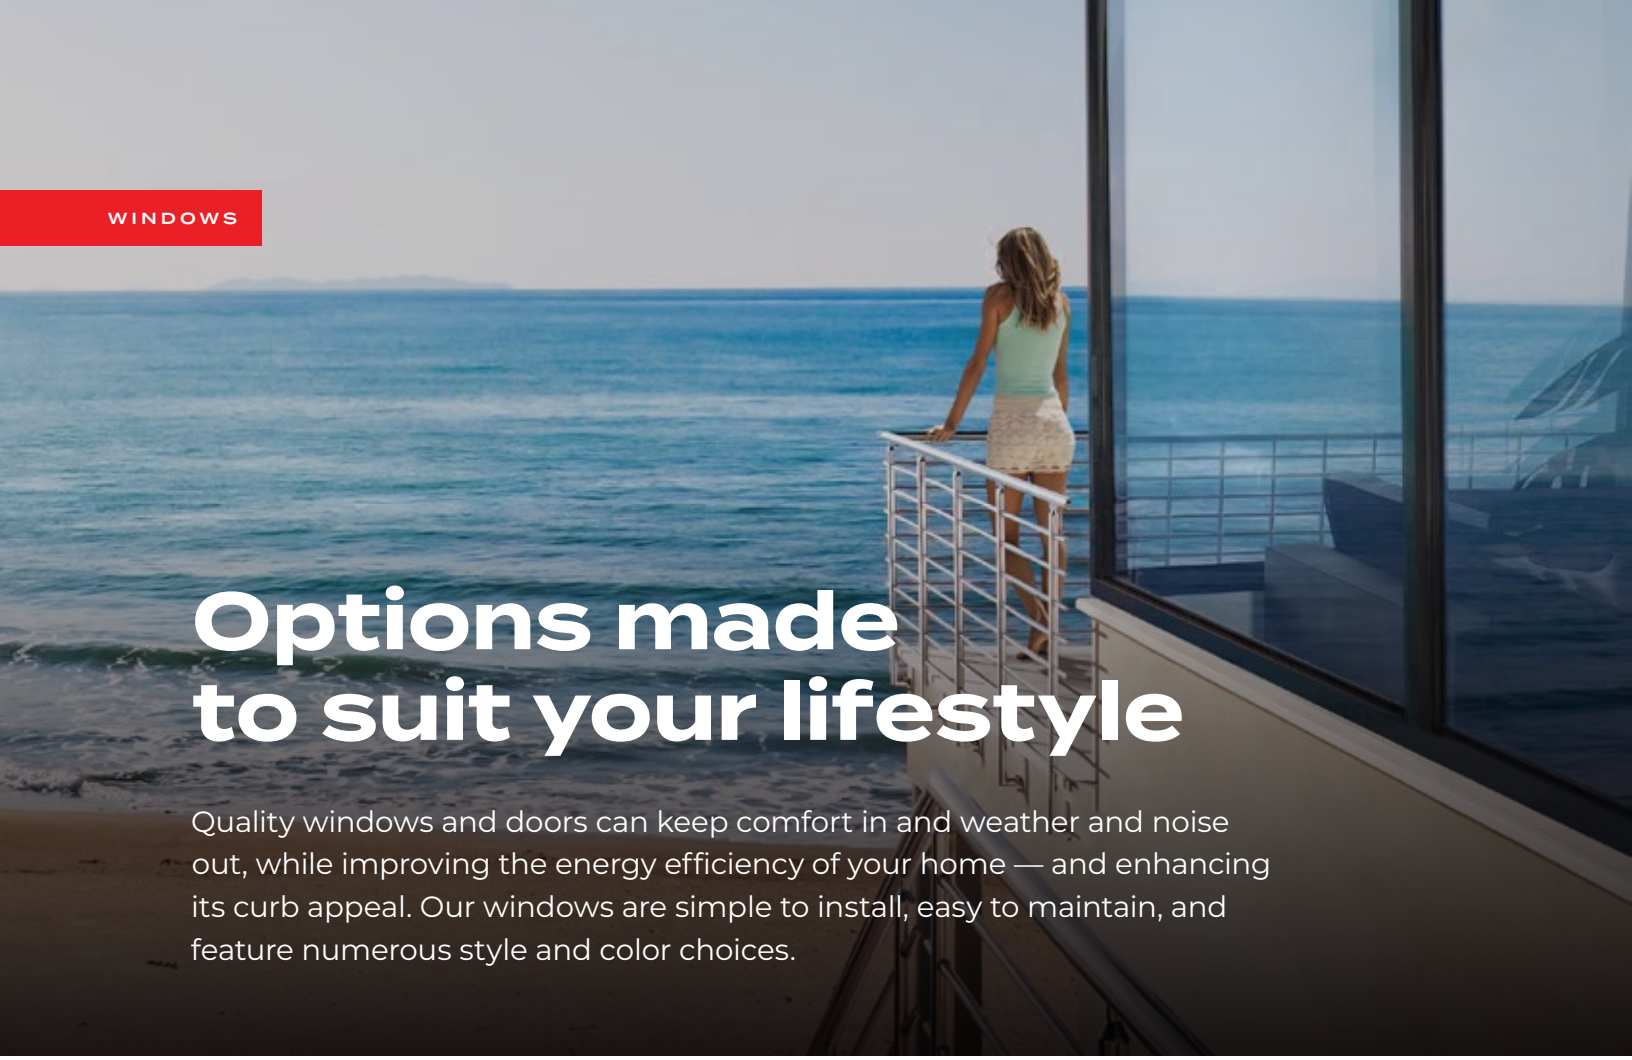

Hours of Testing

PGT® WinGuard® Aluminum products endure hundreds of hours of testing to meet or exceed Miami-Dade Building Code requirements.

Options made to suit your lifestyle

Quality windows and doors can keep comfort in and weather and noise out, while improving the energy efficiency of your home — and enhancing its curb appeal. Our windows are simple to install, easy to maintain, and feature numerous style and color choices.

THINGS TO CONSIDER WHEN CHOOSING YOUR WINDOW STYLE

Operating style. When we talk about an operating style, we are referring to whether or not the window opens to allow ventilation or, is an inoperable picture window that only allows light to come in. Each room in your home may have a different window need.

Security and privacy. When purchasing windows and doors, security and privacy should be top priorities. Look for products with robust locking systems, impact-resistant glass, and reinforced frames to protect your home from intruders and severe weather. Privacy options, such as obscure or tinted glass, help shield your interiors from outside view while still allowing natural light. By selecting windows and doors designed for safety and discretion, you can enjoy peace of mind and a comfortable, secure living environment.

Location. Think about each room individually. First floor windows may differ from second or third floor windows regarding the size, where they are placed on the wall, and how they open. First choose where you want the window to be, and then think about what you want it to do

Ease of use. Ease of use is an important consideration. Look for features that make operation and cleaning simple. Consider the accessibility for all members of your household, as well as maintenance requirements. Choosing windows and doors that are easy to operate and maintain will enhance your daily comfort and ensure long-term satisfaction with your investment.

Quality that brings confidence

PGT® WinGuard® Aluminum doors are beautiful and low-maintenance — the perfect complement to a carefree life. You'll feel the premium quality each time you open them and feel fully protected when they're closed.

THINGS TO CONSIDER WHEN CHOOSING YOUR DOOR STYLE

Purpose and Location. Start by considering the door's primary function and where it will be installed. Is it an entry door, patio door, or interior passage door? Entry doors should prioritize security, durability, and weather resistance, while patio and interior doors may focus more on aesthetics, light, and access.

Security and Privacy. Look for features that enhance security, such as impact-resistant glass, multi-point locking systems, and reinforced frames—especially for exterior doors. Tinted glass options (obscure, white interlayer) can help shield your interiors from outside view while allowing in light.

Customization and Design Flexibility. Consider color, finish, hardware, and grid options to match your home's décor. Doors with large glass panels can maximize natural light and outdoor views, ideal for patios or living spaces. Solid doors or those with minimal glass provide more privacy and insulation.

Energy Efficiency. Features like laminated insulated glass, and weatherstripping can improve comfort and reduce energy costs.
