ALUMINUM

Options made to suit your lifestyle

It is part of our mission to help keep our neighbors safe. With PGT® Sparta™ Aluminum, we are proud to provide more access to quality windows and doors.

THINGS TO CONSIDER WHEN CHOOSING YOUR WINDOW STYLE

Operating style. When we talk about an operating style, we are referring to whether or not the window opens to allow ventilation or, is an inoperable picture window that only allows light to come in. Each room in your home may have a different window need.

Security and privacy. When purchasing windows and doors, security and privacy should be top priorities. Look for products with robust locking systems, impact-resistant glass, and reinforced frames to protect your home from intruders and severe weather. Privacy options, such as obscure or tinted glass, help shield your interiors from outside view while still allowing natural light. By selecting windows and doors designed for safety and discretion, you can enjoy peace of mind and a comfortable, secure living environment.

Location. Think about each room individually. First floor windows may differ from second or third floor windows regarding the size, where they are placed on the wall, and how they open. First choose where you want the window to be, and then think about what you want it to do

Ease of use. Ease of use is an important consideration. Look for features that make operation and cleaning simple. Consider the accessibility for all members of your household, as well as maintenance requirements. Choosing windows and doors that are easy to operate and maintain will enhance your daily comfort and ensure long-term satisfaction with your investment.
